Bishop Casey opens the School Year . . .

DEDICATION

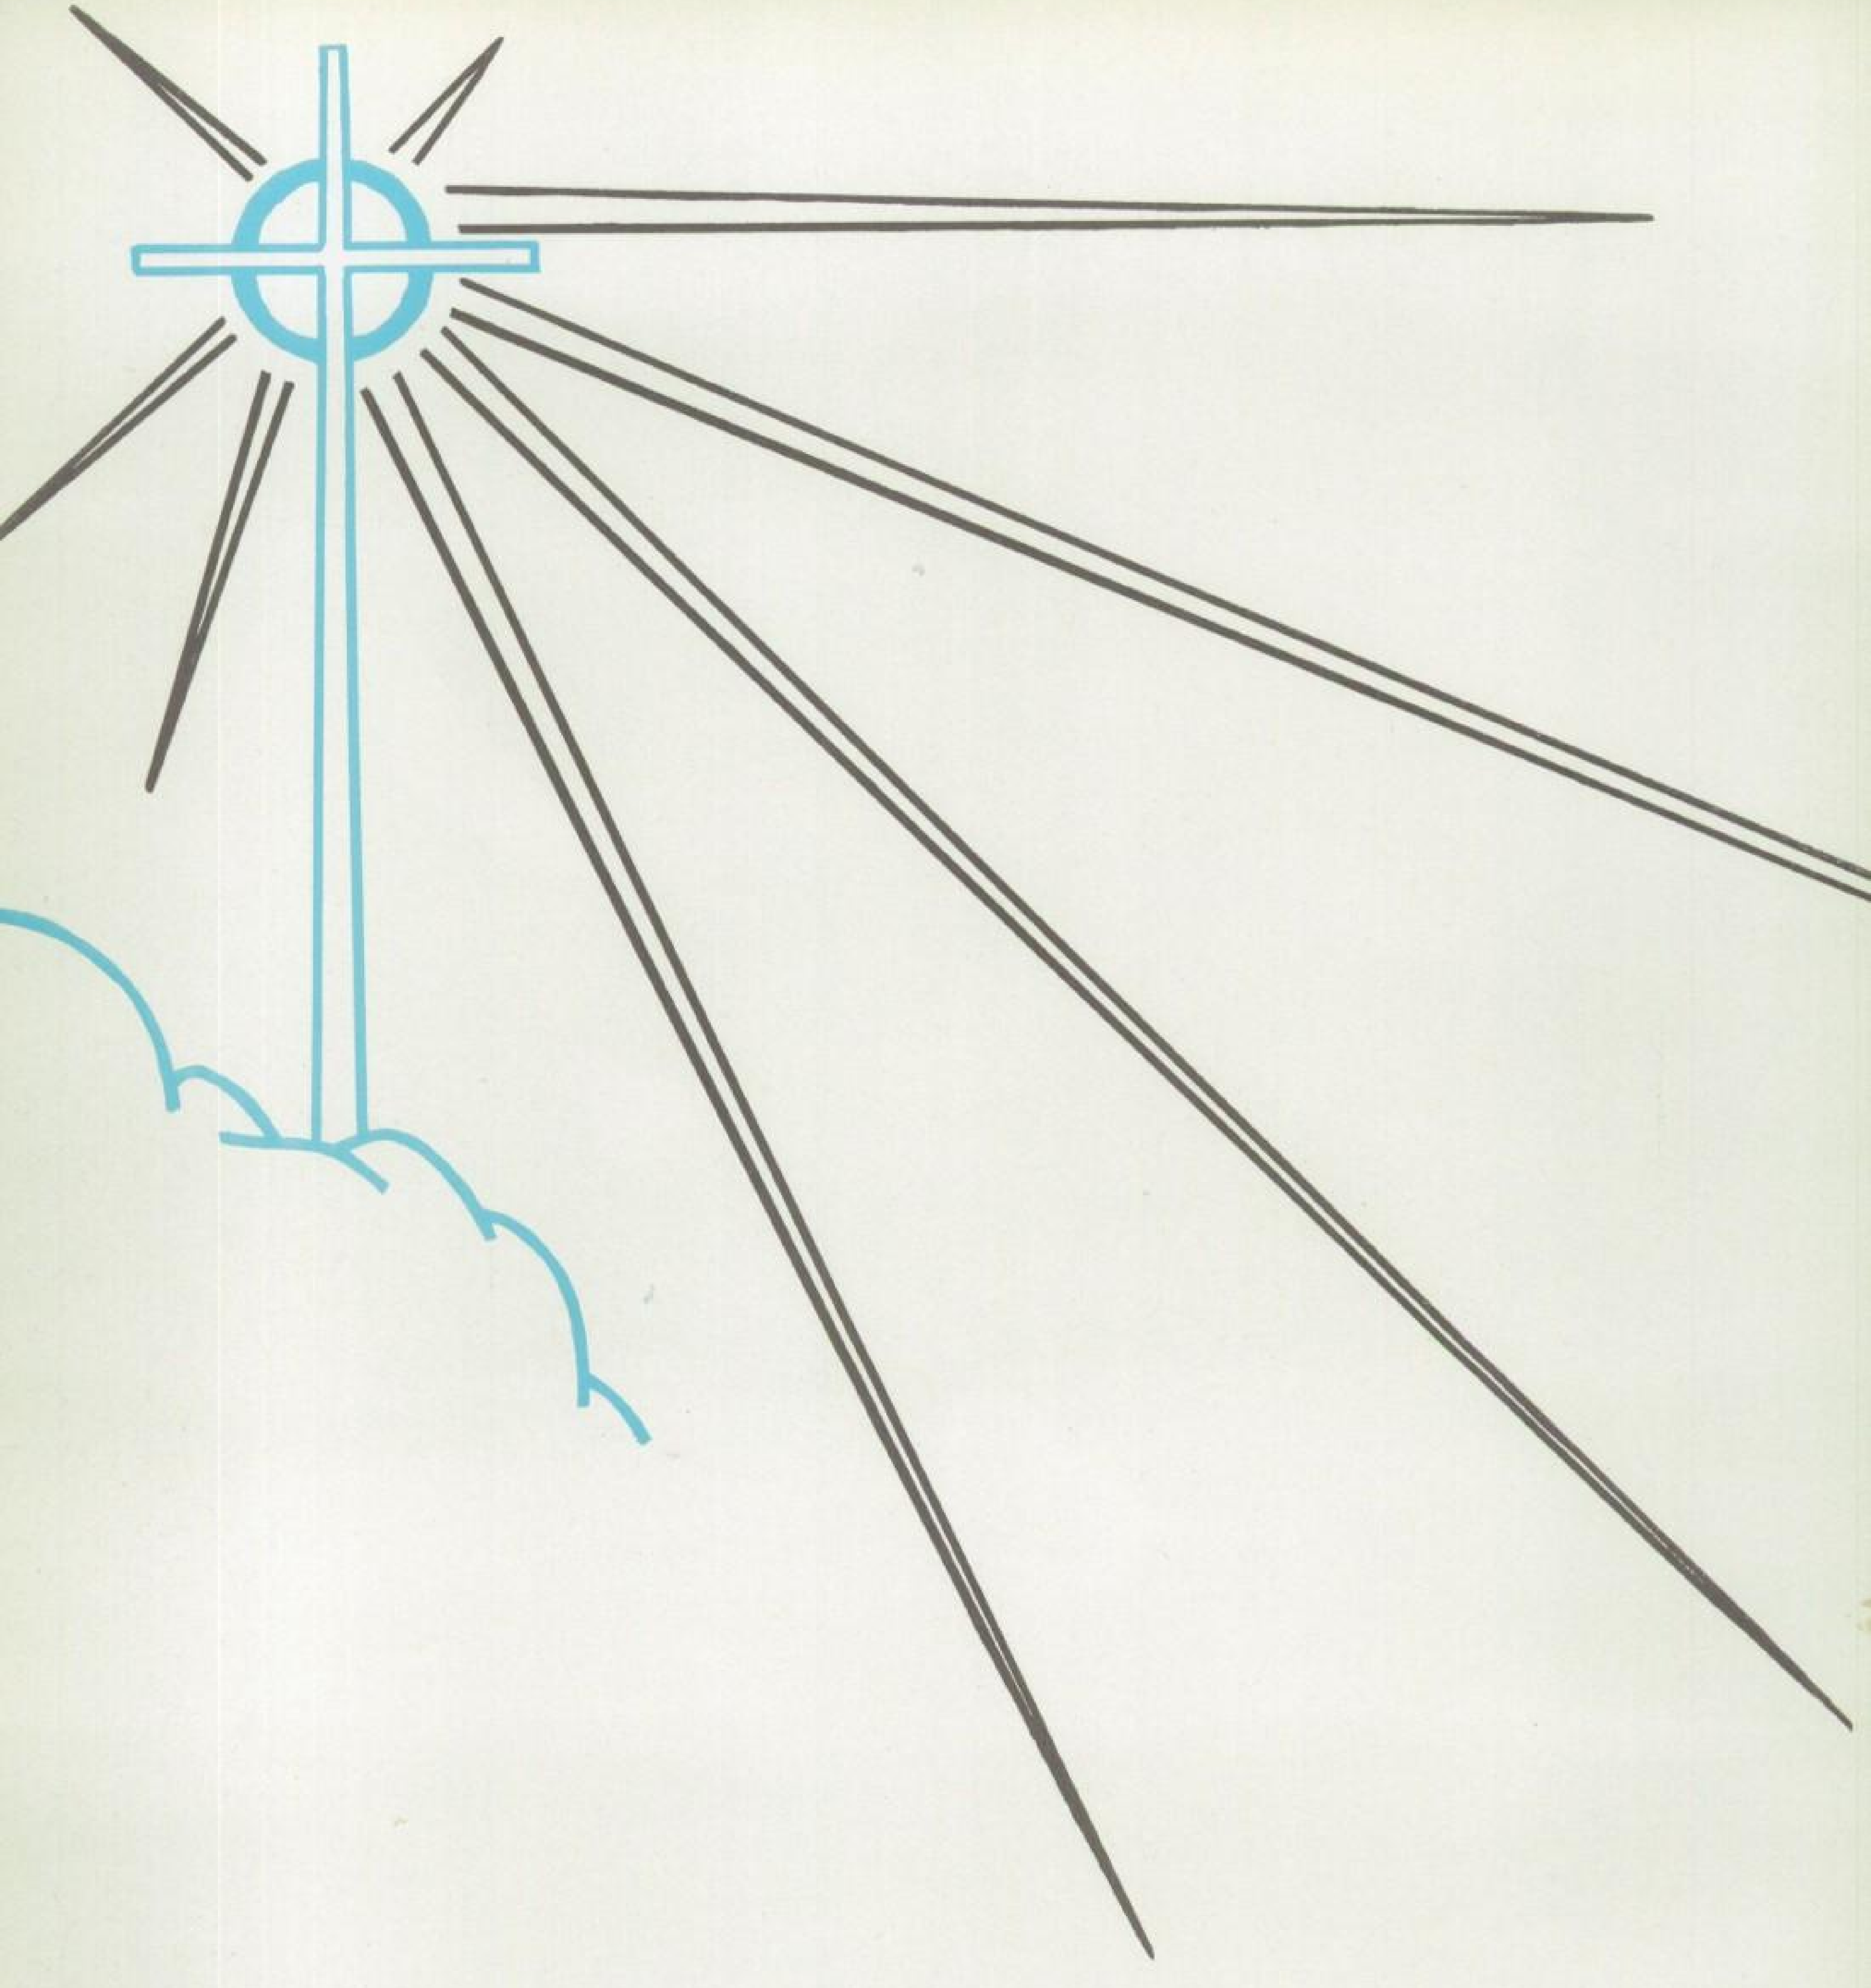

"But only one thing is necessary; and Mary has chosen for herself the best part of all, that which shall never be taken away from her." Luke 1;42

To surrender one's goods is painful. To surrender oneself is the perfection of love.

Our Sisters have made that sacrifice—a clean oblation of themselves—a perfect act of love.

Because of their sacrifice for us, we sincerely and gratefully dedicate our 1956 Arete to our beloved Sisters, past and present, faculty members of Aquinas Institute.

The Aquinas student

Man . . . . . . , the noblest of earth's creatures, was made unto the image of God. His immortal soul reflects the resplendent glory of his Maker. It follows therefore that our true perfection and happiness can only be attained in filial communion with the Sovereign Deity. However, because of the sin of our first parents, man lost his right to heaven and was sentenced to earn his bread by the sweat of his brow. But Almighty God did not abandon His ill-fated creatures and in His infinite mercy sent His only-begotten Son, Jesus Christ, Who by His Passion and Death on the Cross, atoned for the sin of Adam.

Therefore man, exiled from His Creator, once again seeks perfection. To guide man in his quest, the Creator has showered the earth with reminders of his lofty goal. Among these are Beauty, Truth, Discipline and Friendship.

In our Catholic education here at Aquinas, these qualities are incorporated in our school life — curricular and extra-curricular activities. Beauty, for instance, is incarnate in such pursuits as Art, modern and ancient languages and Music. Truth is embodied in such subjects as Religion, Mathematics, and the Sciences. We find Discipline in athletics and Friendship in our social activities.

. . . guided by his Principal . . .

REV. ERNEST P. MAGEE, C.S.B.

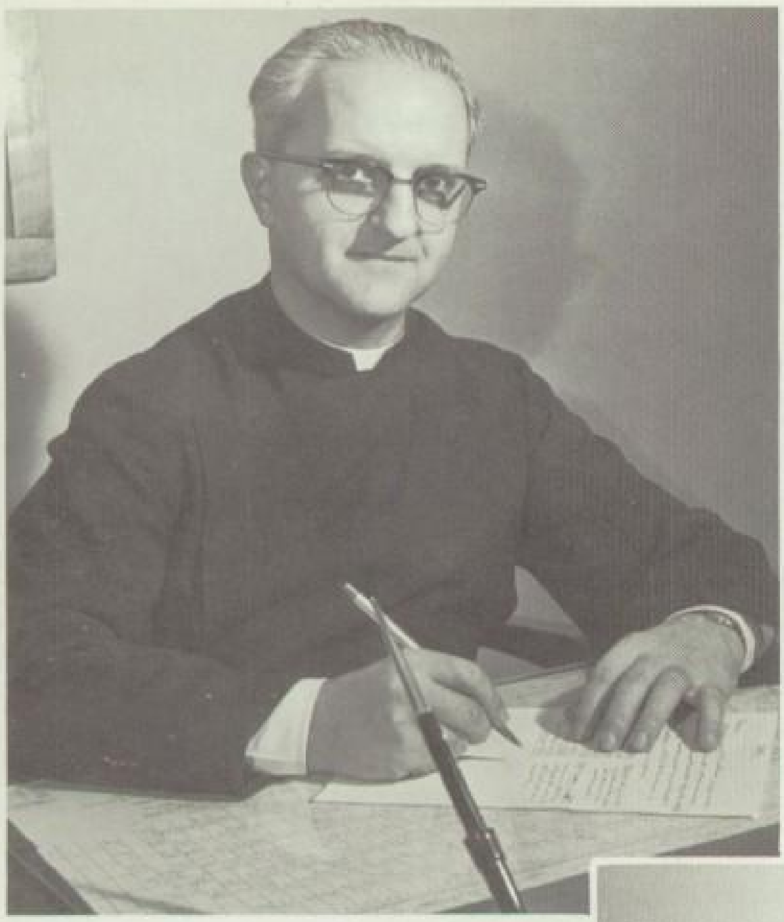

My dear Seniors—

In the Divine Decision, "Let us make man to Our Image and Likeness," we find the basis for Catholic Education. Any system of education that reckons not with these words of Genesis is shallow.

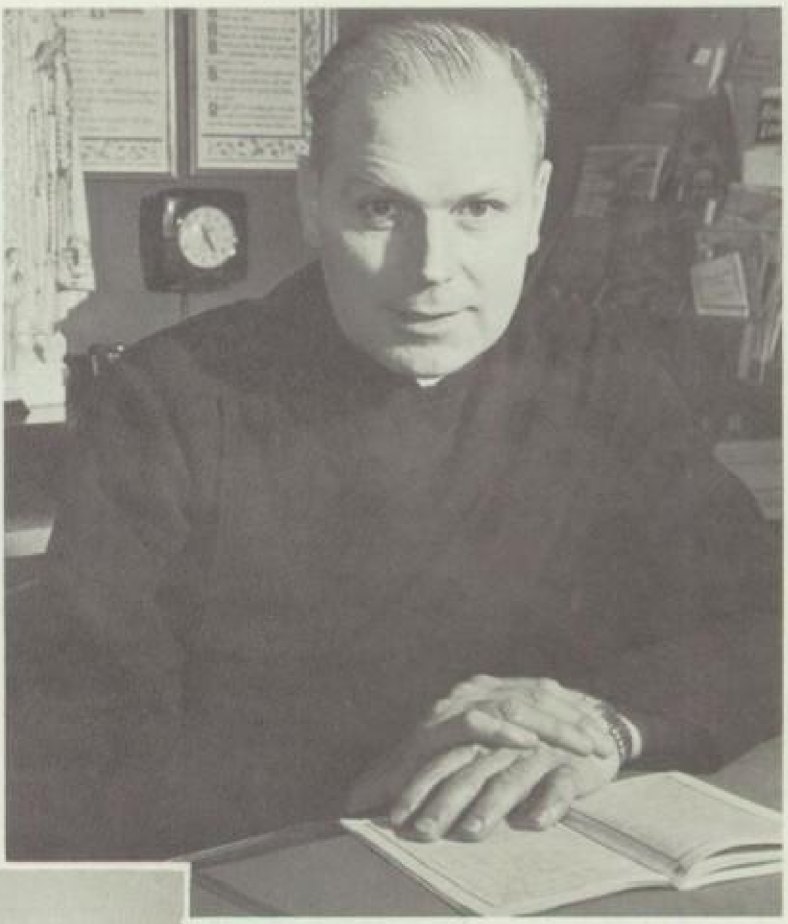

You are like to God because you possess an intellect that can know truth, and a will that can love the good. To train your intellect alone, and neglect your will's capacity for goodness would be to misunderstand you as a creature made to God's image. Catholic educators know what man is; it is impossible to divide him. To consider him but an intellect is an attempt at such a division He must be wholly educated, both intellect and will, or he is badly educated.

Here at Aquinas you have received an education which embraces the whole man. Athletics have strengthened your bodies; academic subjects and your religion have strengthened your soul so that you may learn to use these gifts of intellect and will to know Him Who is the Good.

The motto of the Basilian Fathers, "Teach me Goodness, Discipline, and Knowledge," does not belittle knowledge by placing it last. In our wish that you excell in all three, we stress Goodness, for Goodness has a Discipline and Knowledge all its own.

Next year, Aquinas will offer a much sought-after driver training program. Sixty-five students will take the course, which will extend from September to January. This is just one of many accomplishments of the Underclassmen Council. Elected by their respective classes, these twelve industrious young men are devoted to the best interests of their school and of the students, whom they represent. These accomplishments herald a competent and conscientious student government for many years to come.

...IN HIS QUEST FOR TRUTH,

"Truth is a queen who has her eternal throne in heaven, and her seat of empire in the heart of God."

RELIGION

"The end of religion is filial communion with God, in which we honor and revere Him as our supreme Lord, love Him as our Father, and find in that reverent service, our true perfection and happiness." Undoubtedly it would be impossible to achieve this end, if religion were treated merely in the classroom as a secular subject. Accordingly, Christian Doctrine at Aquinas is much more than that; it is a living faith—an intimate part in all student activities. Four years of study and practise prepare the student for adulthood and mold important spiritual habits which will guide him throughout his life.

Aquinas affords its students a variety of religious activities, the most recent of which is the weekly Confession period on a school-wide basis. Initiated this year upon the suggestion of our principal, this practise has proved to be very profitable and may be accountable for a noticeable increase in weekly communicants. Daily Mass, the Sodality, the Perpetual Rosary, religious assemblies and many other spiritual aids are further proof of the application of Catholic principles to our school life. All have the same motive — to strengthen the faith of the Aquinas student, and draw him closer to God.

The Sodality of the Blessed Virgin Mary is much more than a religious organization—it is a Way of Life. Dedicating himself in a special way to the Mother of God, the sodalist not only sanctifies himself but also gives good example to others. Daily rosary and weekly Communion are urged for all those who would follow this way of life.

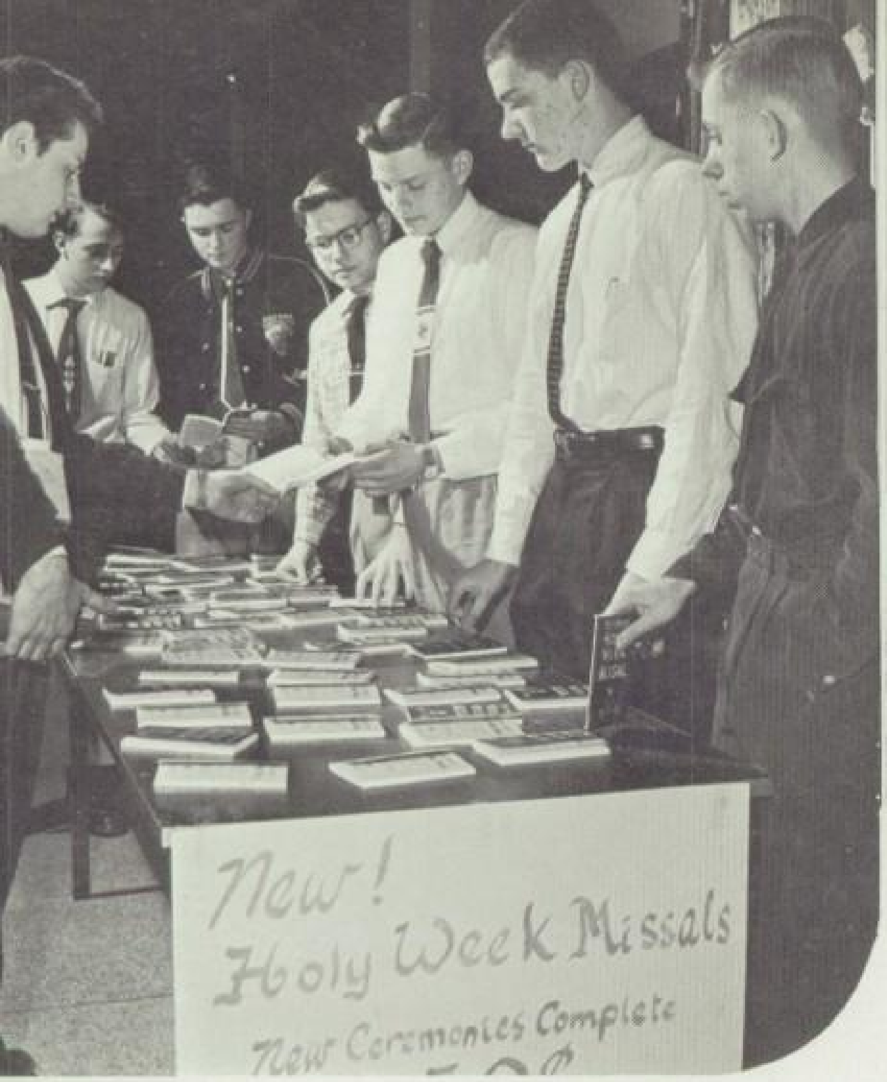

This year, led by Father Williams, the Aquinas Sodality undertook a rigorous course of prayer and apostolic works. Among their many activities was the Perpetual Rosary, which they built into the largest organization in Aquinas. Religious articles were sold on a school-wide basis. Through this ambitious schedule of activities, the Sodality has truly lived up to its motto, "Ad Jesum Per Mariam".

MISSIONS

In accordance with the magnificent mission spirit for which our school is famous, the Aquinas Mission Unit has again attained a position of national recognition. Profound commendation must be given to Father John Wilson, who, as the successor of the capable Father Looby, has upheld the mission prominence which is synonymous with Aquinas history.

Of the diversified mission activities here at Aquinas, the many Masses and prayers naturally merit the greatest reward.

Although these spiritual acts are the very essence of the missions, Aquinas realizes that financial assistance is of the utmost importance to the missionary. Consequently, the Mission Unit promotes an extensive fund-raising program, consisting primarily of the annual Mission Bouts, supplemented by daily collections in the homerooms.

Considering the spirit of the entire student body and the inspiring leadership of Father Wilson, it is evident that Aquinas will continue to do its part to spread the Word of God as faithfully as it has done in the past.

SCIENCE

"An ordered knowledge of the things of nature obtained from demonstration. . . ." To decipher and exploit this definition has been the task of man from antiquity. The fact that science opens to man a limitless field of inquisitions is altogether too evident in our day. Science has been lauded for the advancement of our civilization and condemned for the evils prevalent in our society. But to develop man as he is takes a cooperative plan whereby religion and science work hand in hand.

We have the opportunity to study four sciences: Chemistry, Physics, Biology, and General Science. Each builds a firm foundation which leads us, the leaders of tomorrow, to our goal in life and directs us in our search for truth.

MATHEMATICS

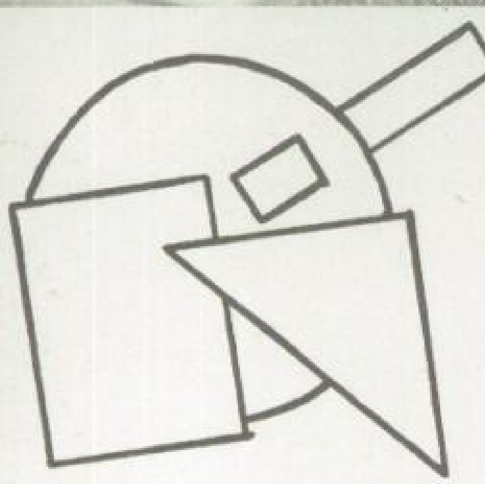

Through the extensive course in Mathematics offered here at Aquinas, the student comes to understand a few of the intrinsic features of this broad field and to realize the influence of mathematics on his life.

The primary reason for pursuing such a course is to try to comprehend the complexities of God's plan for this world; and what better way than to study the consistency and logical reasoning embodied in mathematics?

The Mathematics course at Aquinas, which includes elementary, intermediate and advanced algebra, plane trigonometry, and plane and solid geometry, affords the student not only a thorough knowledge of mathematics but also a comprehensive understanding of some of God's earthly phenomena.

HISTORY

Cicero once said, ". . . . History is the witness of the times, the torch of truth, the life of memory, the teacher of life, the messenger of antiquity."

Anything of importance which has occurred during man's tenure on earth has been recorded in the archives of history. If it be untrue or distorted, it is an imposter. If it lacks any clues that spirituality was responsible, this also is false.

Yes, truth and man's spiritual nature are both integral parts of every phase of hisory,—Citizenship Education, World History, American History and Problems of American Democracy.

If the truth is distorted and spiritually neglected, history is incomplete. But we of Aquinas are schooled in the authentic annals of mankind.

BUSINESS

The Business Department at Aquinas is designed to prepare students in the fundamentals of Business and to teach honesty in all business transactions. It particularly stresses the idea that unless we follow a definite Catholic Code of Ethics with the virtue of justice as the foundation stone, we cannot achieve success.

Such courses as Introduction to Business, Business Management, Salesmanship, General Mathematics, Business Arithmetic, Bookkeeping, Typing and Business Law illustrate vividly that if we do not see a place for God in our modern Business world, if we do not keep our final goal constantly before our eyes, we will not withstand the pitfalls of an immoral Society.

. . . IN HIS APPRECIATION OF BEAUTY

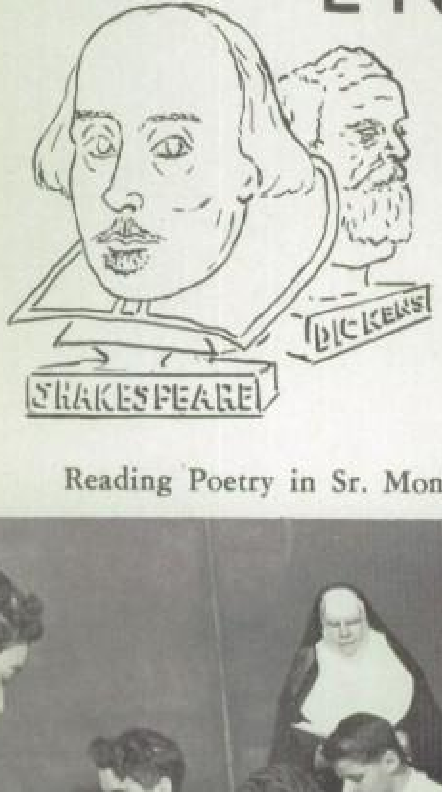

"O, if so much beauty doth reveal
Itself in every vein of life and nature,
How beautiful must be the Source itself . . . . ."
—Tegner

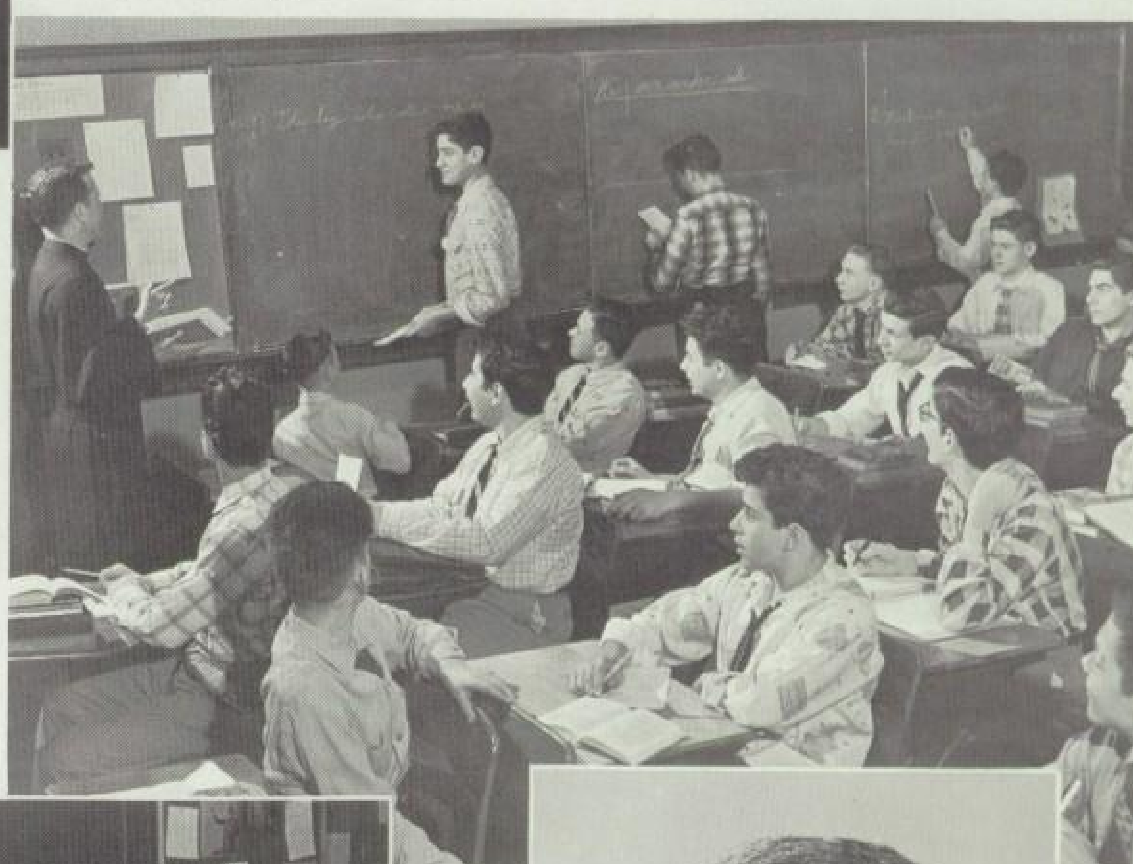

It is through the English language that our thoughts and ideas are voiced in a comfortable yet explicit fashion. English is a vast, complex language which, combining the refined symmetry of the classical tongues and the flowing eloquence of the romance languages, proves itself to be a paragon of beauty.

The fact that our mother tongue surrounds us from our very birth does not preclude the necessity for its constant improvement. Our four years at Aquinas, though merely touching on the many aspects of the language, offer us a wealth of knowledge in literature, grammar and composition. In this way we are prepared for the years of adulthood following our graduation. This knowledge acquired in the classroom, interwoven with the proper Christian application, constitutes a gift of beauty which is in every way pleasing to God.

THE LIBRARY

When one enters our library at Aquinas, he is instantly confronted with a friendly atmosphere so necessary for a good library to function properly, and encounters an omnifarious collection of books, magazines and other periodicals.

Another important unit of the library is the Library Club. This year, under the capable guidance of Fr. Whitley, it has become one of the most active organizations in the school. Besides initiating a wide variety of social activities, this unit is responsible for the "homey" surroundings of the library and takes pride in the fostering of good reading as a means of learning about God and our environment.

LANGUAGES

The beauty and power of any civilization is reflected in its language. The classical beauty of Latin, the strong gutteral strains of German, the flowing eloquence of French—all these are but the media by which their thoughts and ideas are expressed. But each language has a common, yet distinct, beauty of expression. Who can choose between Homer in the Greek, Vergil in the Latin, Dante in the Italian, Shakespeare in the English and Goethe in the German.

Realizing this Aquinas offers a wide variety of classical and modern tongues from which to choose. Four years of Latin, two years of Greek, and three years of German, French, Spanish and Italian make the Aquinas student well equipped to understand the great civilizations of the world, thereby making him more competent to enrich his own.

Besides these curricular subjects, the school also sponsors the many language clubs through which the ambitious scholar may gain a fuller insight into the culture of other lands and other civilizations.

ART

"Beauty is at once the ultimate principle and the highest aim of Art." It is the most changeable and yet changeless type of beauty which man has heretofore conceived.

In its broader meaning, Art has become somewhat less exclusive and has come to include any and all pursuits which appeal to the aesthetic tastes of mankind. However, in its true sense, Art embraces only those human representations, which, by reason of their intrinsic order of design, have achieved recognition among the peoples of the world.

Father Cullen has attempted to introduce his pupils in Basic Art and Art II to the intricacies of artistic expression which must characterize each one who desires to understand more clearly the nature of Art itself. These qualities include: neatness of line and work, appreciation of the techniques involved in the Graphic Arts, both artistically and practically, ability to express oneself through visual arts and perseverance in completion of the final study. We can feel a great pride in the degree to which the director has succeeded in the realization of his aims.

HEALTH

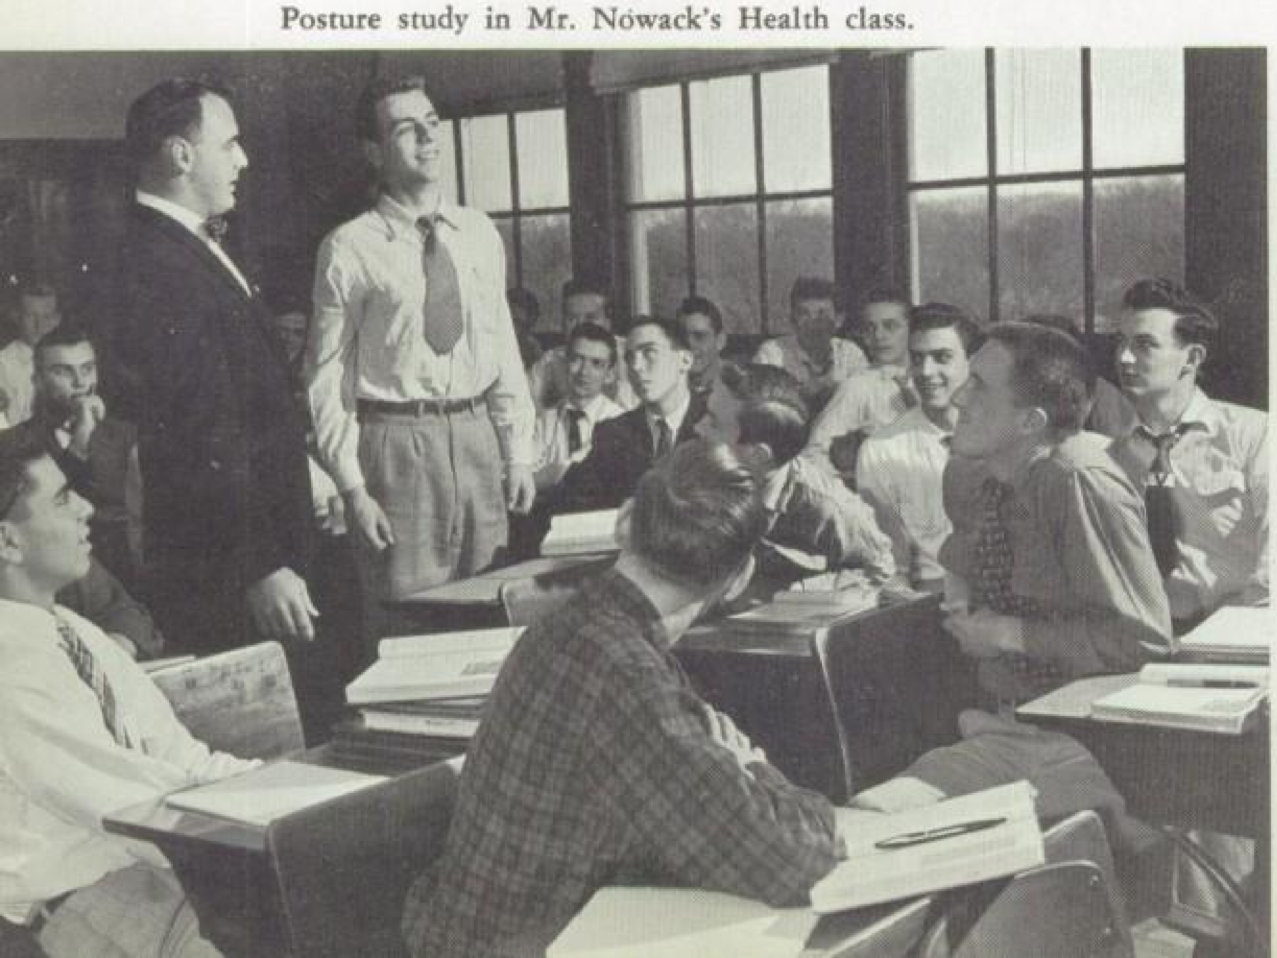

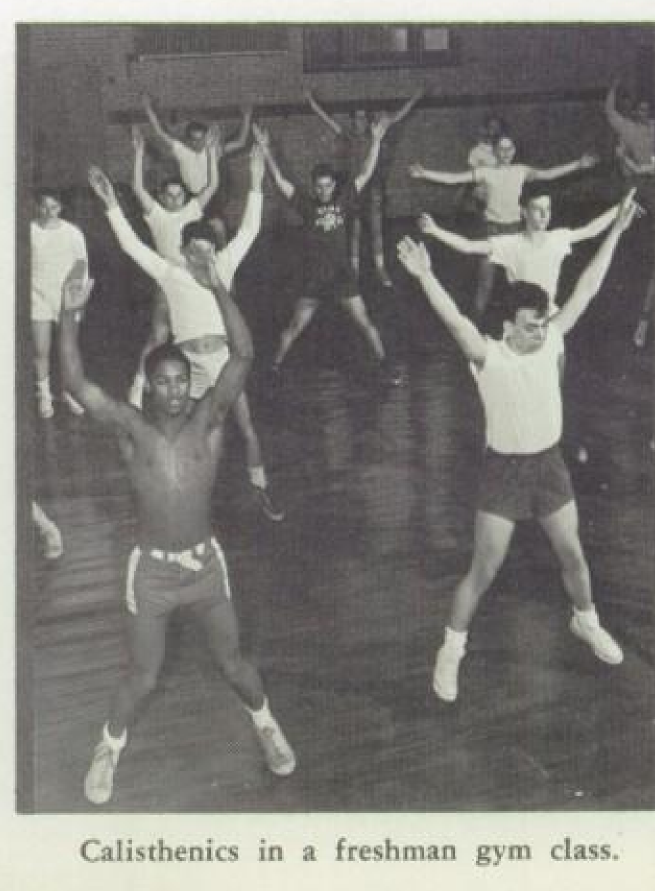

Mr. Louis Basile, Director of the Department of Health

The aim of a Catholic High School education is to prepare the student for eternal happiness by making him well-equipped spiritually, mentally and physically to face the problems of this world. The physical aspect of education is not overlooked at Aquinas. For the underclassmen, there are regular gym classes. This physical education is supplemented by an accredited Regents course—"Health". This subject helps us to better understand the complex structure of our bodies, and thereby to develop the poise and personality so necessary in becoming a well-rounded person.

Therefore, every student at Aquinas has ample opportunity to fulfill our Holy Father's wish, ". . . a sound mind in a strong body."

ST. THOMAS CLUB

Membership in the exclusive St. Thomas Club is the highest scholastic honor Aquinas can bestow on her students. To achieve this honor, a student must attain an average of ninety with no mark under seventy-five. An S.T.C. pin represents many long hours of study and perseverence on the part of the wearer.

This club serves as a challenge to every Aquinas student and is responsible for the high scholastic standards this school has maintained down through the years.

DEBATING

The lost art, debating, is far from lost here at Aquinas. Our Society of Forensic Arts holds the current New York State Championship. Enjoying a very successful season, the Society has literally swept every major tournament in which it participated. Both the Soph and Plebe debators whipped McQuaid and at Canisus College, a preliminary for the State competition, our men dominated every division. At the International Speech Festival in Toronto, first places were captured in "original oratory" and "ex tempore oratory," by George Schnetzer and Gordon DeHond respectively.

The debate topic this year was concerned with the federal subsidation of education, a controversial subject for every prospective college student.

The Aquinas Society of Forensic Arts also sponsors the annual Aquinas Invitational Tournament, held this year on Feb. 22.

We of the class of '56 can justly be proud of our illustrious and ever militant Debating Society, inspired by the immortal words of Walt Whitman, "Tyrannies are governed by declamation; democracies by debate. . . ."

Another year of sterling performances has been recorded by our Music Department. Two years ago, a newcomer, Fr. Udall, assumed the leadership of this important department. In this his sophomore tenure, the genial Basilian has done much to improve Aquinas' record—musically. Together they have molded the Aquinas Music Department into one of the finest high school aggregations in the country.

FOOTBALL FIFTY-FIVE

"When the One Great Scorer comes
To mark against your name,
He writes—not that you won or lost—
But how you played the game."
—Grantland Rice

Lacking weight on the line and depth in the backfield, the Little Irish of Aquinas finished their 1955 season with a dismal 3-5 won-lost record. However the record book does not reflect the true quality of the team. Under their new coach, "Hunk" Vadas, the team performed well against superior odds and will rank with former Irish elevens in spirit. This was a team of whch we all may be justly proud.

On Sept. 25, the Little Irish initiated their 1955 schedule by dropping a hard-fought 13-8 decision to North Catholic of Pittsburgh. Out-weighed at every position, the boys in maroon fought to a 8-7 halftime lead. However in the final stanza, the Trojans unleashed a long scoring pass which decided the contest. The loss was attributed to a weak pass defense. Landry and Riley sparkled for the losers.

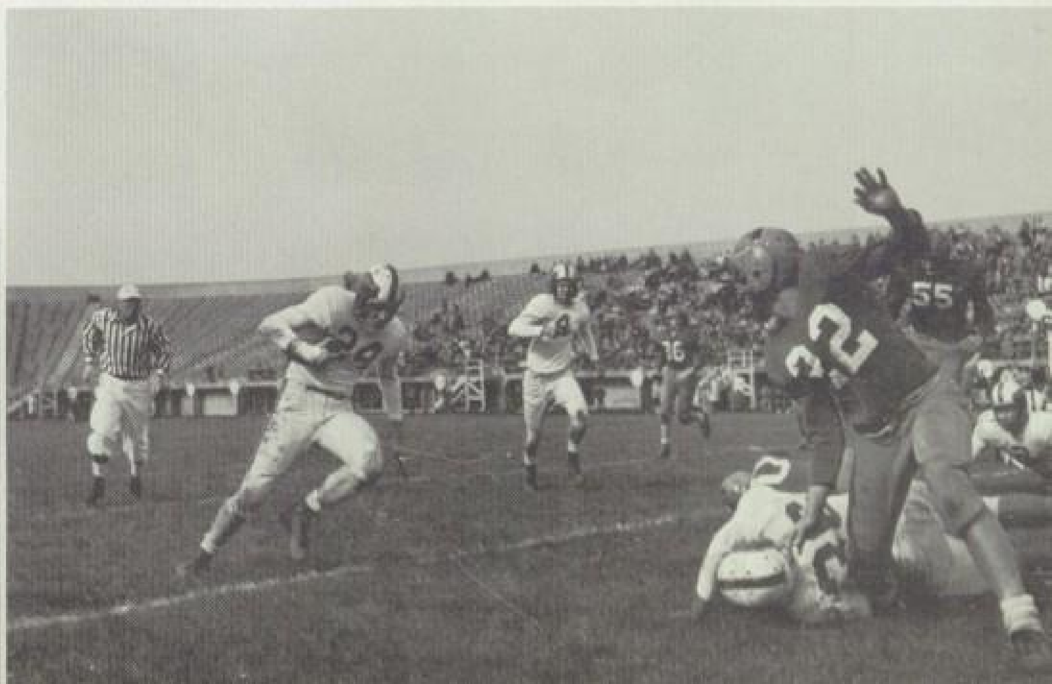

Against Archbishop Stepinac of White Plains, Coach Vadas' charges chalked up the first AQ tally on a drive highligted by a sensational pass reception by DiFabio. Then late in the fourth quarter, Landry snake-hipped his way for a TD, making the final score read 13-6. Yeoman was one of many Aquinas standouts.

On Oct. 7, 700 eager excursionists journeyed to Rome, N. Y. to watch the home team bow to a highly-rated Rome Free Academy. Rome countered thrice in the first half while a Parrinello-DiFabio pass connected for the only Irish score. The Maroon and White could not muster a scoring drive in the second half in an injury-ridden game, leaving the final score 18-6. Quarterback Parrinello played one of the greatest games of his Varsity career.

The crippled Irish returned home to drop a heartbreaker to Cathedal Prep of Erie, Pa.—7 - 6. Three days of continuous rain had made the footing very treacherous and the heftier visitors had a distinct advantage. AQ's only score came on an end run by Herbie Lettau, who was on of the standouts in the defeat. The extra point however was missed. Later in the game Erie scored on a blocked punt and converted for the winning margin. It marked the first time that Erie had defeated the Little Irish in their own backyard.

Having suffered three losses in the first half of the season, the frustrated Irish broke loose against Notre Dame of Chattanooga. Facing a lighter foe for the first time, the men in maroon reeled off six scoring drives in the 38-7 rout. Riley, Graham, DiFabio, and Grassi joined in the touchdown parade with Riley scoring three TD's and Lipani adding a pair of extra points.

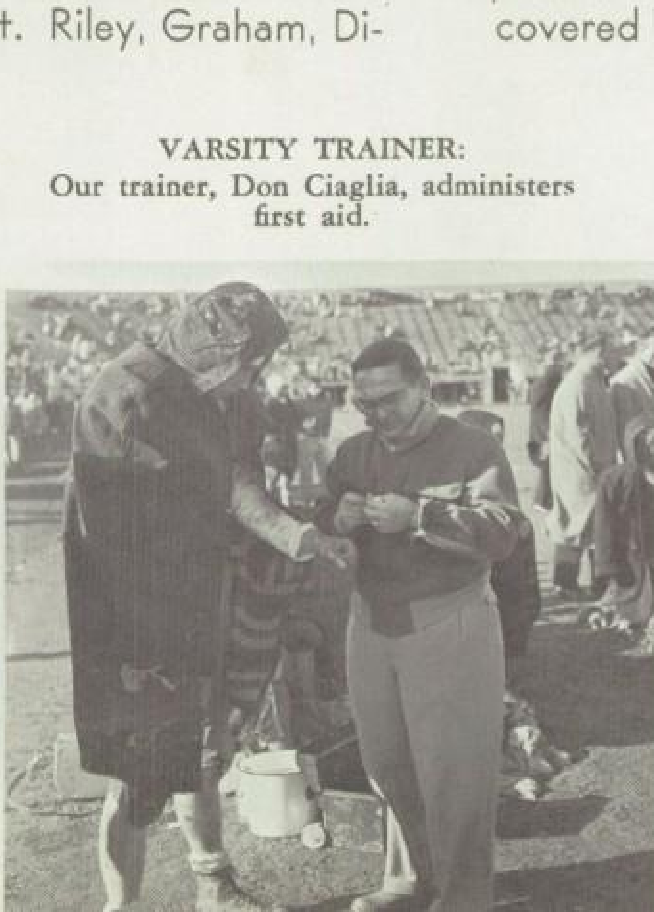

The following Sunday, the Irish faced their traditional rivals from Catholic Central of Detroit, and found them tougher than ever. The game, although bitterly contested, was completely dominated by the stronger Shamrocks. Led by a speedy scatback by the name of Chuck Grade, the Detroit team ground out a 20 - 0 victory to gain the only shutout of the season over the Irish and to bring the Lang trophy back to Central.

The team hit its peak on Nov. 20 against a strong St. Cecilia's of New Jersey club, state champion in 1954. Parrinello showed that he had fully recovered by scoring the first touchdown and passing for the second. Another two points were added by a safety making the final score read 14-0. The line play in this game was superb and the victory was a team effort in which no individual star could be chosen.

However hopes for a .500 season were short-lived, for on Thanksgiving Day, Skip Palrang unloosed his Cowboys from Boystown who corraled Aquinas in a 46-6 romp. Sparked by their stellar end Glen Hepburn, the Boystown eleven completely dominated the contest.

1955 BASKETBALL 1956

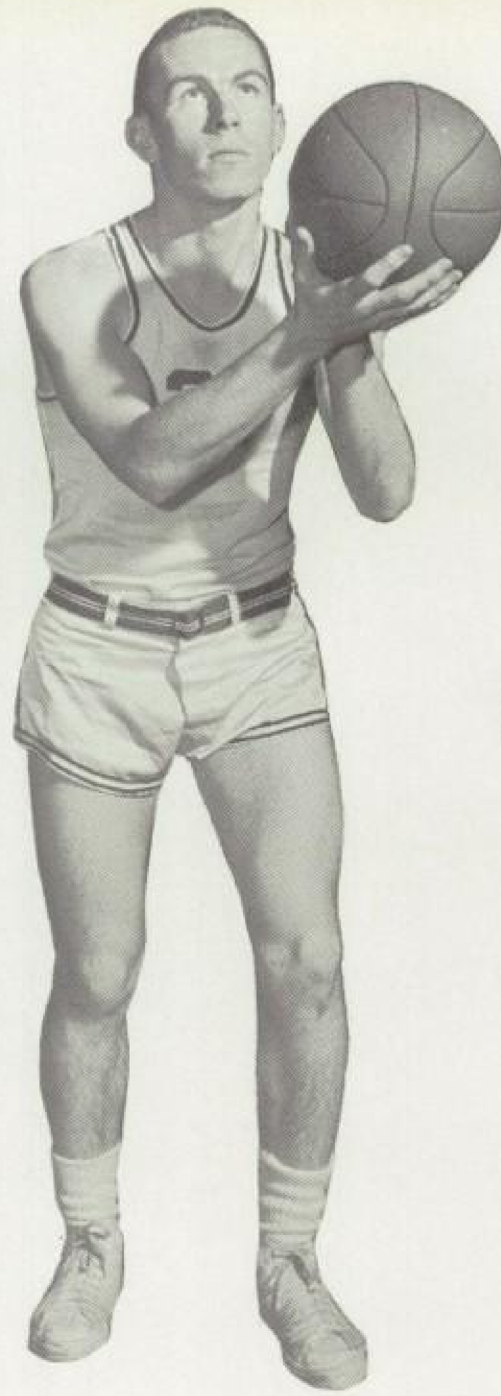

Reflecting the competence of their coach, Mr. Basile, th 1955-56 Aquinas basketball team amassed a total of eleven wins against only four losses for a highly successful season. After dropping three out of their first four games, the team came back in traditional Aquinas style and continued through the rest of the season, undefeated.

Highlight of the campaign was a convincing 83-73 triumph over Madison, making Aquinas the unofficial "city champs".

Unforgettable will be the performances of Jim "Howdy" Burke, the teams leading scorer, "Pistol Pete" Pavia, the backcourt ace, as well as Ben "Igor" Quamina, Ralph "Satchmo" Gallo, Mike "Tex" Richards, Fred Taddeo and all the rest. But the success of this team was not due so much to this galaxy of stars but rather to cooperative team work and competitive drive.

On Feb. 4, before a near-capacity crowd at the newly completed War Memorial, 24 boys fought to determine the championships of the 21st annual Mission Bouts. All showed genuine sportsmanhip in submitting to the decisions of the judges (Frank Duggan and Elmer Thaney).

In the course of the evening, Fr. Looby, former director of the Aquinas C.S.M.C. Unit received a special plaque in recognition of his tremendous efforts in developing the Mission Bouts into their present status.

Also present at the bouts was Carmen Basilio, who was presented the Catholic Fighter of the Year Award by Fr. Wilson. Abe Raff was given a special award for his unselfish contribution to the Mission Bouts.

With an ample supply of thrills and surprises for all, the 1956 Mission Bouts surpassed any and all expectations.

MOTHER'S CLUB

For many years now, the Aquinas Mothers' Club has been one of the most popular, as well as beneficial, organizations in our school. Meeting monthly, the club not only affords the mothers an opportunity of discussing common problems with other mothers, but also carries on an extensive fund raising program. Activities for this purpose are many, but of these the Fashion Show and the Card party are the most outstanding.

Spiritually, the club annually sponsors a day of recollection and the Mothers and Sons Communion breakfast.

The untiring services of Father Fullerton and the officers along with the cooperation of every member has earned the deepest respect and appreciation of the Aquinas student.

MEN'S CLUB

An organization, which, while working "behind the scenes," has steadily increased in prominence here at Aquinas, is the Men's Club. To them is accredited such popular events as the Turkey Raffle, "Beat the Clock", and the annual Awards Night.

The most publicized program staged by the Men's Club is the Awards Night, at which students are honored for their academic, athletic, as well as extra-curricular, achievements.

We here at Aquinas recognize and appreciate the admirable accomplishments of this splendid group. We offer our most heartfelt thanks to all members, and in particular to Mr. W. Schefter, President; Mr. P. Farrell, Vice-Pres., Mr. D. Mark, Secretary; Mr. C. McCarthy, Treasurer; and to Fr. Sheehan, the club's very capable moderator.

The year 1955 also saw the inauguration of a new campaign at Aquinas. In place of the annual magazine drive, every student was asked to sell tickets to the Aquinas football games. Inspired by Father O'Reilly, the student body conquered overwhelming odds to sell a spectacular total of $13,302 in football tickets.

This is nowhere near the sum the school would have sold had it not been for such obstacles as the World Series and poor weather.

And thus, although our total fell short of the desired goal, the drive was nevertheless a success and an inspirational display of the great Aquinas "sales ability".

TO OUR TEACHERS . . .

To Aquinas, the Senior Class of '56 shall aways be thankful. We owe much to our teachers and administrators. By their patience and understanding, they have shown us that not with atoms will we cast fire upon the earth, but by adhering to our school motto, "I believe whatever the Son of God has said."

The Basilian Fathers have left us a treasury of virile sanctity and a picture of a holy way of life drawn by priests of God. Indeed, you have taught us "Goodness, Discipline, and Knowledge."

To you, Sisters, we express our appreciation. Your constant concern has been to make us healthy cells in the Church which is the Mystical Body of Christ. Your lives have meant long hours of patient toil for our spiritual and intellectual formation.

To you, our lay instructors, we owe much. You have edified us by your exemplary Catholicity in a faithless world. For us you have set the example as lay Apostles.

To us, these seem incomplete words. We will strive to make up the lack by our prayers that Almighty God will continue to shower His abundant blessings on you.

With heartfelt appreciation,

STUDENT COUNCIL

Self government is the true essence of American Democracy. With this in mind, it is only fitting that many of the important decisions concerning the school be made by the elected representatives of the students themselves.

The Student Council at Aquinas is composed of four representatives from each of the four classes and the four Senior Class officers, who direct the operations of the Council.

Besides representing the students, the Council also sponsors many of the dances and social events. It is also their task to subsidize the various clubs and organizations in the school. Also instituted this year is the suggestion box from which the Council hopes more directly to learn of the trend of student opinion.

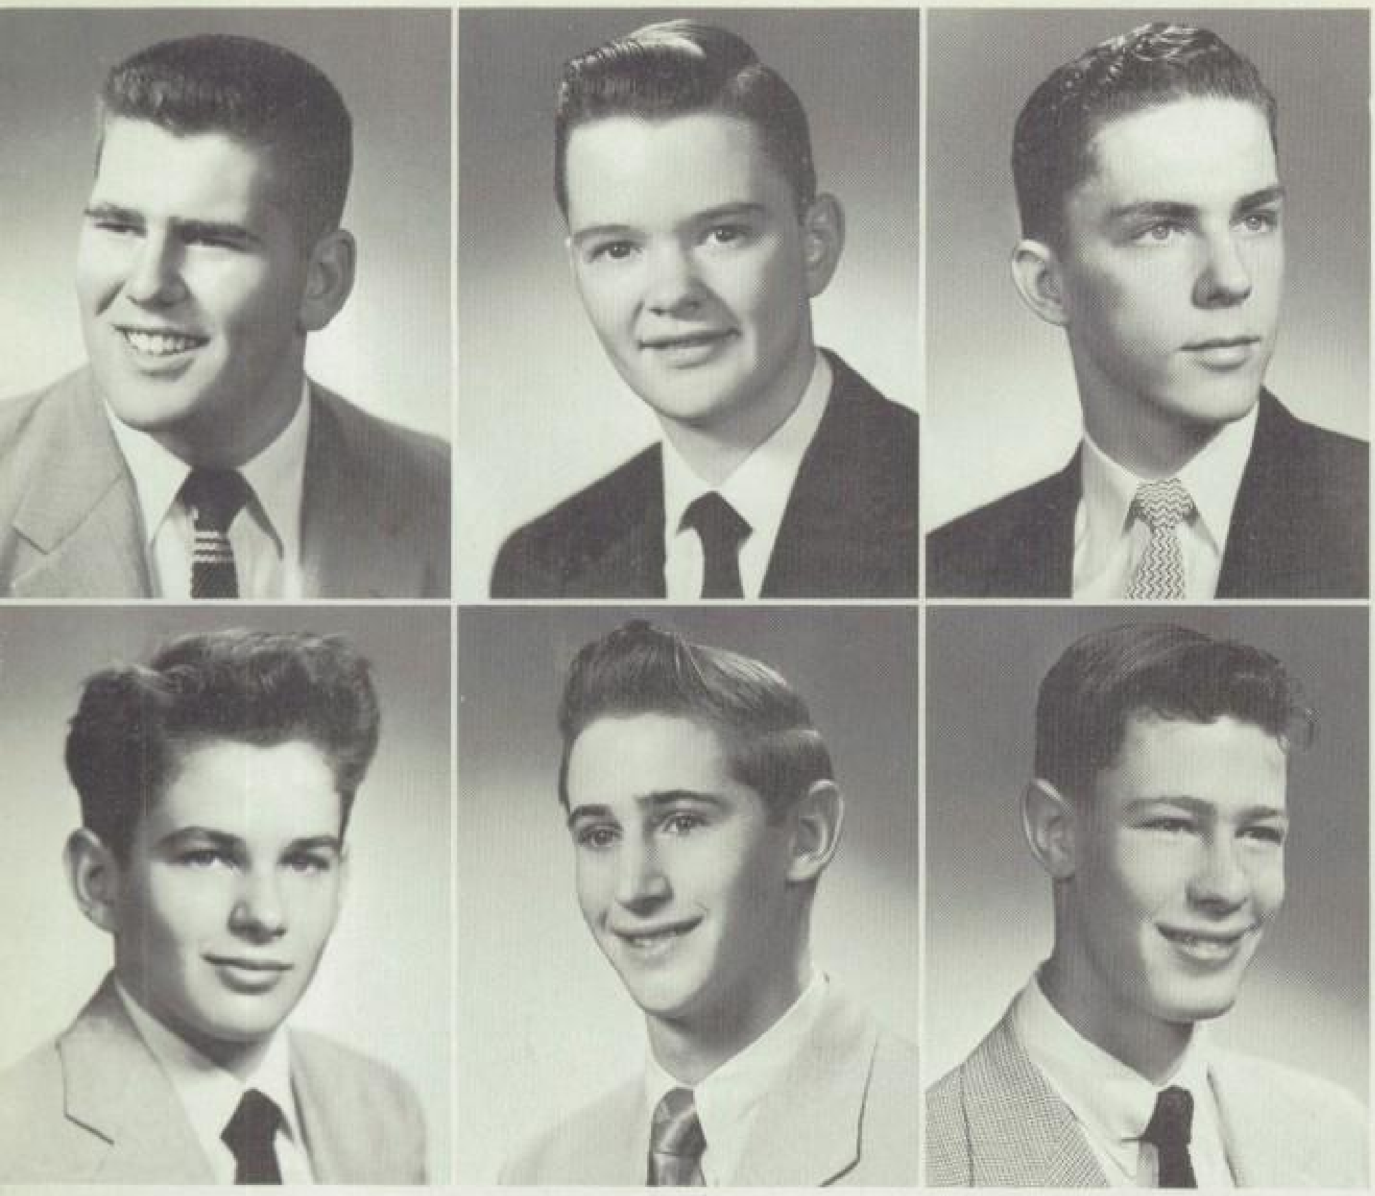

Much credit is due these boys who firmly believe that "a public office is a public trust".
